Three Men Were Wise

It might be a good idea for the average American to realize that the entire nation was caught napping, along with the army and navy, at Pearl Harbor. While a great deal was done during 1941 to convert industry to a war-production basis, the "business-as-usual" philosophy was subscribed to by a great majority of our people.

In this connection, however, it is advisable to call attention to at least three Americans who seemed to be alert to the needs:

The first is Leon Henderson, price administrator, who did his best to cut down on output of new automobiles in the interest of arms production.

The second is Walter Reuther, a CIO labor leader in the Detroit area who proposed that the auto plants be converted to arms manufacturing.

The third, we think, it should be admitted in fairness, was President Roosevelt, who repeatedly warned the people of this country that the world was smaller and that modern warfare could come to the United States.

It should not be overlooked that Mr. Henderson was denounced as a radical by conservative business, financial and industrial interests of the nation, that Mr. Reuther's plan was summarily dismissed by the big-wigs of industry and that the president was constantly berated as a "war-monger."

Don't we wish we had back the rubber we wasted skidding to a stop.

Freedom is not always the right to do and to say what you please.

Hard work, mixed with some intelligence, usually reaps a reward.

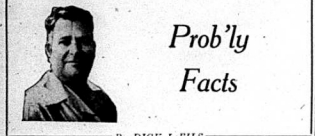

Hard work may not kill anybody, but who wants to disprove the theory.

Almost any good looking girl knows that she would be a success in Hollywood.

One good thing about the shortage of automobiles and tires is that 1942 will have less traffic deaths.

There are some Americans who don't want to read or listen to anything with which they do not agree.

When a man starts out to purchase truth, he finds many conflicting signs along the way.

When the sage of West Belle Glade, better known as Chosen by the inhabitants, asked me to be his guest columnist I thought he must be having a brain storm but after questioning him further, I found that he didn't have any storm, that is, not brain. It seemed that Dick wanted to investigate the disappearance of two or three of Belle Glade's star citizens who left here to go to the horse races in Hialeah and ended up in Havana, Cuba. It is rumored around that during one more zombie than legal in those parts they boarded what they thought was one of the new streamlined Miami Beach buses but later turned out to be a Havana bound Pan American Airliner. Another rumor going around is that these citizens left the tracks to place a bet at what they thought was the two dollar window but later found out that they had bought three tickets to Havana and not wanting to waste them took flight. There is very little foundation for this latter rumor. Anyway, Dick wanted to check up on all this talk and he had to have time to do it so he has asked me to fill in for him this week.

To write a column, Dick says, you have to write about something everyone is interested in. I decided to do one thing which everyone is interested in is the town they live in.

A town is nothing but a place where you and I and our families all decide to stay and live. We all owe each other a debt and that debt is collected in two ways. The first way is in the form of taxes which we pay to our local governing body chosen by us in an election. This governing body in turn takes the money it collects and builds streets, sidewalks, water plants and parks, all for our convenience and pleasure. The second way we pay that debt which is owed to each other is by our trade among ourselves. If we didn't trade money and goods among ourselves there would be no one to pay taxes and therefore no streets, no parks, no plant and no town. There might be a few farmers but there would be no streets or no water they could not live here. If those farmers, who by the use of the land bring the town its chief source of income, did not buy their gas and oil, their trucks and cars, their groceries, their clothes and other essentials in the town, what use would there be for filling stations, hardware stores, dry goods stores, restaurants, lumber yards, schools or even churches. So we must pay our debt to each other by buying everything we can in the town we live in so that our town will come to grow and everyone will be able to make more money and pay more taxes and thus have more and better streets.

All of this talk about debts reminds me of the one about the doctor who went out to see a poor old fellow who was sick. When asked how much the bill would be, the doctor said two dollars would be all right. The old fellow explained that he didn't have the two dollars but would the doctor take a rooster? Doc says yes, so he put a servaney looking bird in his ear and starts to drive off. "Wait a minute Doc" says the old fellow, "the rooster is three dollars."

There would be no end to our life if we could put off doing like we put off getting our car tags—and no one would work if we could find someone else to do it like I did this week—D. L.

COUNTY COUNCIL

For young people and outlined the program of the girl scout activities in the county, state and nation. Principal Ervin F. Johnson of South Bay talked on "Florida Problems in Community Living" in which he outlined the need for a closer relationship and cooperation between the school and community programs. The program was in charge of Mrs. John E. Kistler of West Palm Beach. Mrs. Kistler also served as secretary and treasurer pro tem in the absence of the regular officers.

A very interesting part of the program was the report of Mrs. Mary Greer of Westgate on the highlights of the Tampa convention of Florida Congress of Parents and Teachers on the campus of the Tampa University.

Mrs. Bregger announced that it was not obligatory for a school to have an active Parent Teacher Association to be accredited in Florida. She reported 22 associations in Palm Beach county and stated that several others were working and would doubtless affiliate with the county council in the near future.

The matter of a film library to be passed from school to school was taken up and after a short discussion Mrs. H. B. Williams of West Gate was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate this matter and report at a later meeting.

Attention was called to the Home Defense program put on over the N. B. C. Stations at 3:15 p. m. Saturdays beginning Jan. 17 and all members urged to tune in on these programs.

Mrs. Bregger gave out the annual report blanks to all local presidents and urged 100 percent reports by May 1. Attention was called to the annual Founder's Day programs to be put on in February, literature for which is available.

Luncheon was served at 1:00 o'clock in the school cafeteria by Mrs. M. M. Jeffers, Mrs. C. B. Higginbotham, Mrs. P. E. Goodfriend, Mrs. L. O. Ratley, Mrs. A. H. Hery, Mrs. W. P. Graff, Mrs. Isadore Peterson, Mrs. A. B. Barnes, Mrs. V. N. Greer, Mrs. Kenneth Lockmiller, Marian Mutchler and Mamie Ruth Henderson were waitresses.

Mrs. G. A. Yon, Mrs. R. L. Lovell and Carafay Stacey were on the hospitality committee and presented badges and registered members on arrival.

Others attending were Mrs. Thomas Bregger and Mrs. J. W. Rashley of Belle Glade, Mrs. C. C. King, Mrs. Q. A. Keen and Mrs. T. S. Chambers of Gretna, Mrs. Grace Muncey, Mrs. and Mrs. T. N. Choquette and Mrs. Jennie Sullivan of Lantana, Mrs. G. J. Barstow, Rev. F. W. Capell of South Bay, Mrs. A. Q. Howell and Mrs. W. P. Jerigan of Canal Point, Mrs. Carl Widell, Mrs. Carla Naber of West Palm Beach, Mrs. E. Kistler, Mrs. J. A. Converse of Northridge, Mrs. Mary Greer, Mrs. H. B. Williams, Mrs. E. L. Stoeckl, Mrs. R. C. Nichols, Mrs. R. L. Watson, Mrs. J. A. Campbell of West Gate, Mrs. H. O. Chesere, Mrs. C. V. Raney of Palmetto, Mrs. M. Stauden of West Palm Beach High, Mrs. Robt. Chapman of Andalusia, Ala., Mrs. E. Newberry, Mrs. S. Somers of Mrs. J. M. Thomas of Lake Park, Mrs. Henry Poettie, Mrs. E. E. Greer, Jr., Mrs. C. E. Wilcox of North Glade, Lake Worth, Mrs. Florence Shamo of South Glade, Lake Worth, Mrs. D. D. Humphrey of Junior High school, Lake Worth.

loved by as much as 14 inches of rain in some places. Although no concerted effort to bring these workers into the "Glades" has been reported, many of them have come here of their own accord and will be a distinct advantage in the harvest of the spring crop. The old adage: "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," most assuredly applies in this case.

Chapel Program

South Bay—The sixth grade home room under direction of Mrs. Leanne Knight put on the chapel program at the South Bay school last week. Julia Archer led the devotionals and announced the program which opened with the Flag Salute and
